Hey Valois,

Here are some thoughts on the below:

Ex. 5 Deliberative Process (DP)

Ex. 5 Deliberative Process (DP)

sum of the modeled impacts and the background concentrations. For 24-hr PM₁₀, the three columns correspond to the top 3 daily averages over the 3-year period. These + The top 3 daily averages do not necessarily fall in separate years and as a result do not conform entirely to EPA modeling Guidance or the form of the standard. For example, {insert} {CRAZZ: There is no example, I don't understand we already said they didn't do annual impacts and that's part of the reason it's not a direct comparison}. For the annual PM₁₀ and all other pollutants, the columns correspond to modeled values in years 2009, 2010 and 2011. The separate contexts implied by the column headings reflect the way the overall statistic was calculated in the IML Report. For 24-hr PM₁₀, the results are presented in the IML and NRC analysis as the 4th high over 3 years, so the top 3 values are of interest regardless of when they occurred. This differs slightly from the method for calculating design values for comparison to the NAAQS (insert brief explanation of the differences){CRAZZ: This is too much detail and based on modeling guidance, please leave, if change Rebecca Matichuk should concur on changes}, but is sufficient to inform this analysis.

Hi Chris,
The fixes took me longer than I expected & I had to stop for my 11:00 call. But here is the latest version.

There were these items I ran across that I want to call your attention to before I send the document to Sara:

Ex. 5 Deliberative Process (DP)

So I will wait to hear back from you on issues above, (maybe give you a call after my dentist appointment?) before I send this to Sara. I am also waiting to hear back from Lucita on questions I sent her. I will send this to Sara later today & ask for a call tomorrow.

Thanks!

Valois
